Monte do Carrapatelo Estate

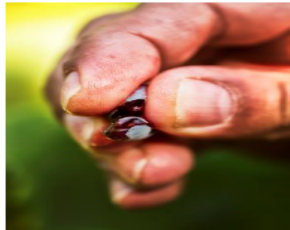

Luis Duarte Vinhos

The family owned business is run by Luis Duarte and his wife Dora Simões. The company was founded in 2007 and has its base in the south of Portugal in the Alentejo wine region, sub-region Reguengos de Monsaraz, where their vineyards are also located.

Alentejo Climate and Soils

Climate. Continental-Mediterranean, characterized by low-rainfalls and high daytime average temperatures during summer. Good summer and balanced pre-harvest thermal amplitude

Soils. Magnesian sedimentary loam soils, ranging from sandy-loam to clay-loam. Whilst very low in organic matter, these slightly acid soil have average fertility and good water retention capacity

Harvest 2016 at Monte do Carrapatelo, started on the 2nd week of August and ended on the 2nd week of October. Was a long harvest period, but the grapes were in excellent condition and for sure this will be a very good vintage.

Portugal - in the west coast of Europe:

- West and South - Atlantic Ocean
- North and East – borders with Spain

Alentejo - in the south of Portugal

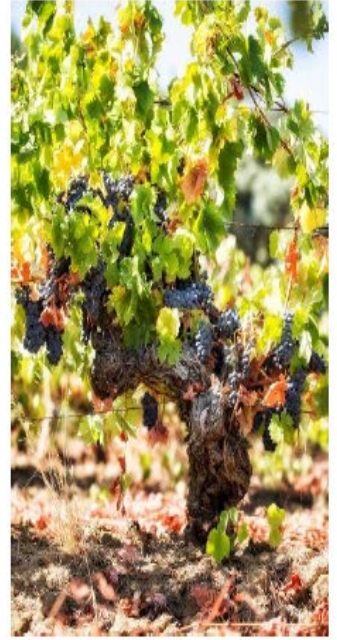

- Southeast of Lisbon and north of Algarve
- Located about 1,5 hours from Lisbon and few kilometers away from the Alqueva lake
- Landscape with rolling hills with pastures dotted with cork trees, olive trees and vineyards.

Monte do Carrapatelo Seleccion Red Blend from Alentejano

“Top winemaker Luis Duarte has produced this wine from vines in the southeast Alentejo district of Reguengos. It's bold and ripe, with a heady mix of Aragonez, Alicante Bouschet and Touriga Nacional giving powerful, dense, black fruit flavors. The aftertaste, with its acidity and tannins, suggests aging potential.”
