About Kaena Wine Company

For over 25 years Kaena has been utilizing native Hawaiian intuition to craft unique balanced wines of style, elegance, and power. This is achieved by selecting only the finest vineyards and working closely with growers to ensure the highest quality fruit possible. The wines are made utilizing the best techniques the old and new world has to offer.

Fermentations occur naturally with native yeasts, and caps are mixed by hand to ensure gentle extraction, creating long-lived wines with a deep sense of varietal character and terroir.

Vineyard

66% Cabernet Sauvignon, 34% Petit Verdot

- Stag Canyon Vineyard, Los Olivos District

Winemaking

Buona Terra has always been made to honor the amazing farming of John and Ivan Belfy of Buona Terra Farming. They are responsible for farming the vast majority of our amazing fruit. Sourced from the incredible Stag Canyon Vineyard located on the eastern edge of Santa Ynez Valley with its tight spacing and rocky alluvial soils, this pristine vineyard is perfect for growing world class Bordeaux varietals. The grapes were destemmed & cold soaked for 48 hours and co-fermented using native yeast for 12-14 days on skins to express the terroir of this amazing sight. days on skins. The grapes were then gently basket pressed and aged on lees for three years in French and American oak barrels prior to bottling.

Malolactic Conversion: Yes

Tasting Notes

Deep, dark aromas of blackberry, mulberry, and dark plum, along with aromas of sandalwood, dark chocolate, blue smoke, cedar, and spice. Bold flavors are echoed in the mouth rich plum, blackberry, and mulberry giving way to and intense core filled with dark chocolate, leather, blueberry and Kona coffee, finishing with long rich tannins.
