About Kaena Wine Company

For over 25 years Kaena has been utilizing native Hawaiian intuition to craft unique balanced wines of style, elegance, and power. This is achieved by selecting only the finest vineyards and working closely with growers to ensure the highest quality fruit possible. The wines are made utilizing the best techniques the old and new world has to offer.

Fermentations occur naturally with native yeasts, and caps are mixed by hand to ensure gentle extraction, creating long-lived wines with a deep sense of varietal character and terroir.

Winemaking

We take Rosé very seriously at Kaena Wine Company. The wine is a blend of 30% Grenache Noir, 30% Grenache Gris, 30% Grenache Blanc, and 10% Nebbiolo sourced from the limestone laden hillsides of Tierra Alta Vineyard in Ballard Canyon. Grenache Noir and Grenache Gris were crushed and soaked overnight on skins for color and complexity. All lots were fermented cold, in stainless steel to enhance aromatics, using yeast from Provence France to capture the true essence of this amazing rosé. Aged in Stainless Steel for 5 months. Malolactic Conversion: None/Inhibited

Tasting Notes

Exotic aromas of watermelon, dragon fruit, and watermelon along with blood orange, mineral, and lavender. Lush flavors coat your mouth with juicy watermelon, strawberry, cherry, and blood orange, that give way to mineral, guava, and herbs de Provence. The finish is dry with long lasting flavors of raspberry, strawberry, and white pepper.
