

Laurel Glen Blanc Slate Sauvignon Blanc

Our Blanc Slate Sauvignon Blanc is sourced from Hopkins River Ranch, a Sauvignon Blanc vineyard in Russian River Valley planted in the 1970's. The old vines produce unusually small, intensely flavored berries. We whole cluster press to preserve maximum freshness and then ferment slowly at low temperature to accentuate the richness of the fruit.

The 2023 vintage has delicate tropical fruit aromas, hints of grapefruit zest and delicious minerality. There is a lovely richness in the mouth offset by a bright, mouthwatering acidity.

The label is our tongue in cheek homage to the extensive brainstorming needed, not all of it while sober, to come up with a name that hasn't already been trademarked and that captures the "je ne sais quoi" of this wine.

RECENT PRESS:

"So fresh and fruity, emphasizing citrus aromas, with tangy green apple and kiwi flavors on a medium body. Crisp acidity is rounded by a sense of ripeness and concentration." - 91 Points, James Suckling

Vintage:

2023

Varietal Composition:

100% Sauvignon Blanc

Appellation:

Russian River Valley

Case Production:

450 9L Cases

Alcohol:

12.9% by volume

Residual Sugar:

0.4%

